"The absent one, has little chance of being the heir." But it's a better chance than has the "absent advertiser" for securing his share of public patronage.

Young Hyde at least put some tall swearing up to his erstwhile bosom friends.

One way to abolish football would be to invent a more dangerous game to take its place.

President Roosevelt was a little bit particular as to who became ambassador to France.

By this time Abdul Hamid's waste basket must be pretty nearly filled with "ultimatums."

Just at present life affords no lack of exhilarating excitement for the possessors of Russian bonds.

It must annoy the tariff on hides to notice how few friendly faces it can see in the audience.

Big hats may go out of style, but the milliners' bills will remain at about the same dimensions.

One might have guessed that the insurance investigation would lead around to Charlie Schwab in time.

King Edward has sprained his ankle, which will necessitate New York's walking with a cane all winter.

If the insurgents in the Isle of Pines do not behave we may yet send Gen. Wood down to pacify them.

As Japan has a big "unemployed" problem on its hands it may find that there are some things quite as annoying as war.

Odell has been patiently building up a reputation that might lead some men to suspect that Hyde was telling the truth.

Another pleasant feature of football it appears, is the practice of hiring spies to get information about a rival team.

It must have kept some of the life insurance officials busy trying to avoid knowing things that went on in the management.

When a Russian workman sees a new manifesto by the government his first impulse is not to take it home and try it on the piano.

There seems to be a decidedly commercial tinge to the passionate patriotism of those devoted American citizens in the Isle of Pines.

POLAND.
The first real interruption of the work of reform in Russia proceeds from Poland. That unhappy country is involved in a state of practical civil war. The people largely reject the Czar's offer of a constitution. The refusal to cooperate with the rest of the empire in the establishment of a national assembly. They demand that Poland shall have its ancient constitution and separate administration restored, as Finland has had, and they declare they will be satisfied with nothing less. In reply, the Czar tells them he will tolerate no attacks upon the integrity of the empire, and he withdraws from them all benefits of his recent reform manifestations until they show a more peaceful and reasonable disposition.

The incident will cause much regret, but sympathy, save from a purely sentimental source, will chiefly be with the Czar. There is a great and radical difference between the cases of Finland and Poland. The former's independence was not attacked until six years ago, and then for no fault whatever of the Finns, while the constitution of the latter was abolished seventy-five years ago in consequence of its insurrection; its separate administration was abolished forty-one years ago because of another rebellion, and as much as thirty-seven years ago Poland was completely incorporated into Russia. Theoretically, lapse of time cannot make a wrong right. Practically, there is much more reason for undoing a recent wrong, in which the sufferers have never acquiesced and to which they have not become habituated, than for undoing one of ancient date, in which there has been much acquiescence and to which the people and their institutions have long been accustomed.

There has long been, and doubtless will long be, a vast amount of sympathy with Poland on sentimental and romantic grounds. The characters and careers of some Polish patriots especially appeal to Americans, and the undoubted oppressions which the Polish people have at times suffered have shocked humanity. The "partition of Poland" will probably always be regarded as one of history's monumental crimes. From that judgment we may not dissent, and of course we must earnestly deprecate any oppression of the Poles—as of any other people. Historically, however, we must also remember that the Poles at one time invaded, spoliated and oppressed Russia, that the Polish kingdom was for many years one of the worst troublemakers of Europe, and that the fall of Poland was not materially dissimilar from that of various other European states concerning which little or nothing is ever said. Practically, at the present time, an insuperable obstacle to Polish rehabilitation lies in the fact that portions of the old kingdom to Prussia and Austria, and these have as good a right to restored independence as the Russian part; wherefore the restoration of the kingdom would involve the re-making of the maps of the other two empires as well as of Russia, a step which of course they will not take.

It would be highly agreeable to see peace, contentment and prosperity restored to the Polish people, and to see the blessings of a free popular government conferred upon them. But from a practical point of view those ends seem far more likely to be attained through cooperation with the Russian people in the improvement of the opportunities of emancipation now opening before them than through a stubborn turning back toward the things that were lost three-quarters of a century ago.

PRESS COMMENT.

Great Diva Scorns Milwaukee.
Chicago Record-Herald: Mme. Calve says Milwaukee is "a bum town." We are sorry that Milwaukee's opinion of Calve's voice is unfit to print.

Lanky Bob Getting Ready.
Milwaukee Sentinel: Mr. Fitzsimmons is rounding into shape for that "brutal and disgusting" affair with Mr. O'Brien. It will be well worth seeing, too.

Not With the Swedes.
Madison Journal: The warm way in which the Free Press is not supporting Lenroot for governor suggests that its interest is with the Norwegians as against the Swedes.

Has Soreamed His Loudest.
Exchange: Tom Lawson bids us all look for his greatest surprise in his forthcoming magazine shocker. But there is a general belief that Tom has already screamed his loudest.

Niagara's Sneaking Habit.
Chicago Tribune: While considering the effect of the Chicago drainage canal on the level of the lakes, let a sharp watch be kept on the Niagara river. It sneaks away with a great deal of the water.

Getting the Hoarse Hoot.
El Paso Herald: The medicine men who put alcohol in their nostrils are in various kinds of trouble and their brethren who use cocaine in theirs are giving them the hoarse hoot.

Mere Subject Scolds Emperor.
Exchange: Herr Bebel has warned Emperor William that Russia's fate will be Germany's if his foreign policy is not changed. The fact that a mere subject may scold the emperor as Bebel does is one of the most encouraging signs concerning Germany's future.

Not a Roseate Picture.
Superior Telegram: The president does not give in his message a roseate picture of conditions in the Philippines. He simply states the facts. The war, the rinderpest, the locusts, the drought, and the cholera have prevented the hoped for return of prosperity.

Open to Criticism, Certainly.
Evansville Reformer: What do you think of a man selling his wife for a bottle of beer at auction, and actually endeavoring to turn her over to the purchaser? Well, it happened in Beloit recently, and they had been married just three weeks, consequently a case for a divorce.

Pfister Case This Week.
Exchange: Congress and the legislature will have to divide interest next week with the Pfister trial at Milwaukee. No indictment returned by the grand jury has caused as widespread comment as the one found against the Milwaukee politician and capitalist and as a result the early trial granted him will be closely watched.

What It All Means.
Waupaca Post: It means that Lieut. Governor Davidson will be a formidable candidate for governor next year, that Lenroot's chances have dwindled almost to the vanishing point, and that "Uncle Isaac" has again been gold-bricked. It also means that La Follette has given up all idea of running for president in 1908.

Satisfied to Lose.
Green Bay Gazette: Hon. Isaac Stephenson of Marinette has expressed himself as satisfied with La Follette's acceptance of the senatorship, declaring that no other course was left open to the governor. He also asserts that during the past seven years he has not been a candidate for the office himself. Thus is one of the widespread stories of dissatisfaction over the governor's action given direct denial. Stephenson does not get the senatorship and still remains faithful to the half breed faction of the republican party.

Hearst's Degenerates to Blame.
Chicago Chronicle: If the hanging of Mrs. Rogers should have no other effect it will aid the nation in making up its mind whether women ought ever to be hanged. It is likely that the decision will be against hanging women for any offense. Not many women have been hanged in this country, and whenever such an execution has taken place it has seemed to shock the sensibilities of the community for more than the woman's crime did. In the case of Mrs. Rogers it is noteworthy that she maintained great cheerfulness to the last and that it was her executioner who nearly collapsed. If Billy Hearst's degenerates had let her alone she would not have suffered death.

Weddings and Funerals.
Atchison Globe: There is mighty little difference between a wedding and a funeral. At a wedding the relations walk slowly down the aisle, followed by the bride couple and a string of attendants. At a funeral the relations enter the church slowly, followed by the coffin and the pallbearers. At a wedding the real relations of the bride sit on one side of the church and the in-law relations sit on the other. The kin of the remains take opposite sides of the church at a funeral. The organ rolls out the same deep music and the odor of flowers is as heavy at a wedding as at a funeral. After the church services are over the bride couple and attendants leave the church first, followed by the relatives, and at a funeral the coffin and pallbearers are given precedence of the church and relatives in leaving the church. The same knots stand at the door and the processions in both cases pass slowly out of sight. After everything is over the relatives get together and talk things over very much the same in both instances. There are some tears, some criticisms, some complaints about blunders and the incidents are closed.

TOBACCO MARKET AS REPORTED IN COUNTY

Trades That Have Been Made in the Fast Week by the Local Dealers.

The Edgerton Reporter says: Business in the local tobacco markets is reduced now to trading in odds and ends very largely. There is but little riding in country districts or but small occasion for it, so scattering are the remnants to be found unsold. As one dealer puts it, 99% per cent of the crop is under contract and it is rare indeed that a crop of old leaf can be located in first hands. Among the transactions of the week is the sale of 1075 '04 by Pelton & Klauer of Madison to W. T. Pomeroy & Co., who also report the sale of three carloads of old stock to Chicago dealers. H. Sweeney sold a 100c lot of '04 to Spitzner and 25c '03 to Loeb of Philadelphia, and the purchase of 104c of a Rio packer and 50c of Pease at Sun Prairie and 50c lot of Campbell & Sayre. T. E. Welch sold 75c of '03, Halvor Lee delivered 42c of '03 to Hanson Bros. at 12 1/2 cents. No signs of easing, weather have appeared since last report and very little progress has been made toward stripping the new crop, for only a fraction is yet unmoved from the polls. Quick work would now be made of the stripping after growth now anxiously await. The shipments out of storage are handicapped by the shortage of line cars and do not exceed 500c from this market to all points for the week.

COUNCIL TO HOLD REGULAR MEETING

Sewer Contractors' Claims and Other Important Matters Will Come Before the Session.

Tonight the city council will hold its regular session and the report of the sewerage committee on the $12,000 claims of the contractors is expected to furnish the principal subject of interest. Reports from the city marshal, the city treasurer, and other officials will be received. The judiciary committee may have something to say with regard to remitting the tax amounting to about $50 on the Mary Kimball mission property. This property had not been on the roll for some years, but was put on this year at the direction of the city attorney, who had complaints from an owner of real estate in the vicinity of the mission who said that if it was not taxed he would bring action against the city to invalidate the whole tax roll.

DISCOVERS A USE IN THE CARP TRIBE

Are Made Into Salmon, Turtles Sold as Luxuries in the East.

It has long been a problem just why the eastern connoisseur who purchased the german carp caught in the Rock river and Lake Koshkonong were so anxious to receive them. J. A. Cassell of Peoria, Illinois, has solved the problem. He also explains the great demand for mud turtles that has become quite an industry in different parts of the county recently. Mr. Cassell talks with knowledge of affairs and his solving of the carp problem may cause this much-despised fish to be found on some of the local tables in cooked form hereafter. He says:

The Carp's Uses

"German carp from Wisconsin and Illinois rivers are being canned in Philadelphia and sold for salmon and mud turtles from the same localities are being sold in eastern markets as terrapin. Carp could hardly be given away along the Illinois and Rock rivers until a few months ago when an enterprising cannery in Philadelphia discovered that the big fish could be turned into a product that it would take an expert to tell from real canned salmon. Since then thousands of pounds of carp have been shipped eastward from Chicago.

Late Arrivals

"A few years ago there was not a carp in a middle western stream. Some fish commission expert thought it would be a fine idea to import a hardy fish for the rivers and lakes. The idea was successful in that the carp flourished. In fact they multiplied to such an extent that all of the other fish in the rivers and lakes. The carp have since become so thick that if the rate of increase is maintained for a few years longer they will become a serious obstruction to navigation.

The Mud Turtle

"Mud turtle is a great delicacy to the old fishermen along the Illinois river and they think that if Philadelphia is eating the Illinois and Wisconsin mud turtle for terrapin, the easterners are perhaps being deceived, but nevertheless getting something more than just as good."

MRS. MARIETTA PHELPS PASSES PEACEFULLY TO WORLD BEYOND

Widow of Late Abram Phelps. Died Before Dawn Yesterday Morning, Closing a Long and Useful Career.

Having survived all the members of her immediate family in three generations with a long and faithful life, Mrs. Marietta Moore Phelps, widow of the late Abram Phelps, passed peacefully away at half-past three o'clock yesterday morning at her home, 153 Pleasant street. Though her death was due entirely to old age, she has been confined to her bed for the last sixteen months as the result of an accident. Several years ago Mrs. Phelps fell and fractured her hip. From this mishap she partially recovered and was able to be about the house with the aid of a crutch and cane. On August 11, 1904, she was again injured, having fallen from a chair in which she was sitting and breaking her hip the second time. Her arm also was fractured and advanced age prevented full recovery.

Of English Ancestry

Mrs. Phelps was born in Litchfield, N. H., September 1, 1816, and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Moore. Both her mother and father were of English ancestry. Mr. Moore being of colonial stock and Mrs. Moore, nee Miss Dodge, from an old Tory family. Mr. Moore served in the war of 1812 on the American side. It was during this conflict that he met his future wife, but as her parents forbade the match, not even permitting the two to see each other, they ran away to be married. Mrs. Phelps was the eldest of their six children and survived them all. In 1828 the family moved to Michigan and there she was wedded to Abram Phelps ten years later. Mr. and Mrs. Phelps took up their residence in Ohio, living there for more than twenty years. Two sons were born to them, Milton Moore Phelps and Frank W. Phelps. Both served in the Civil war and the latter died at the age of twenty-one with measles, contracted while in the service.

Mother of Judge Phelps

Milton M. Phelps was graduated from Meadville, Pa., college. He married Miss Henrietta Bain, and four children were born to them. They were Frank B., George Norris, John, and one who died in infancy. All are now deceased. Frank B. Phelps died in his prime, though his career was a most brilliant one in the newspaper and trade journal fields. George Norris was drowned at the age of fourteen and John died when two years old. Milton M. Phelps, the son of the deceased, was a prominent citizen of Janesville for many years. Serving as a lieutenant and adjutant of his regiment in the War of the Rebellion, he was wounded at the second battle of Bull Run. After sixty days' treatment he returned to the front, but was shortly thereafter retired on account of disability. On July 12, 1898, while Municipal judge here, he met with a fatal accident. He was riding a bicycle and collided with a freight train on the Western avenue crossing. His death occurred on September 27. Judge Phelps was the last of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Phelps' family.

Lived Here Many Years

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Phelps had moved from Ohio to Rock county in 1866, locating on a 202-acre farm in the town of Rock. There a fine home was erected and farm buildings raised. Until 1881 they resided there and then moved to Janesville, renting the farm. In 1888 they celebrated their golden wedding. Mr. Phelps passed away March 31, 1901, at the age of 83 years, 3 months and 3 days. Mrs. Phelps' death yesterday came when she was 89 years, 3 months and 10 days old. Mrs. Phelps was ever a loving wife and mother and her life was sweetened and glorified by a practical Christianity. Though she leaves but two relatives, a nephew in the east and the widow of her

SCUM OF EUROPE CROSSES OCEAN

Immigration to America Is Showing Effects of Deterioration.

BEST ELEMENT STAYS AT HOME

Russia, Austria-Hungary and Italy Replace the More Desirable People
Who Came From Northern Europe
With Those Who Are a Menace.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Nearly all the better class of immigrants from Europe have already come to the United States, says Commissioner Sargent in presenting the annual report of the bureau of immigration. In the future, therefore, this country will have to be content in a large degree with the scum and offscourings of European society for its citizens from the old world. Where once came the sturdy Briton, Irishman and Scotchman, the festive Frenchman, the stolid German and the thrifty Swede will now be received in large numbers the lower classes of Russia, Austria-Hungary and Italy.

European Turkey may be depended upon to furnish more than its quota of future immigrants, says the commissioner, as its population is rapidly growing and has as yet been free from the activities of the immigration agent. The future population from this source, the report says, constitutes one of the real menaces of the situation. Northern countries of Europe have contributed practically their limit and now the south will be given its chance by the agents, notwithstanding the possible effect on this country.

Great Menace to Nation.
Altogether it is not a very alluring picture of the future that is presented by the report. Unless restrictions are at once made by congress the United States may soon be overrun by an element which will gravely threaten the national life and free institutions.

The magnitude and gravity of the problem presented by the growth of the alien population Commissioner Sargent commends to the best thought of the country.

"These problems," he declares, "loom so largely in the prospect of our country that it may be said without giving just cause to charge exaggeration that all other questions of public economy relating to things rather than to human beings shrink into comparative insignificance."

The total alien arrivals reported for the year of 1,026,459 represent an increase over the preceding year of 215,629, of which the continental ports of the United States report 196,940, as compared with arrivals thereat last year, and the Canadian ports 13,840. At the insular ports the increase was 2,849, although the arrivals at Porto Rico were less by ninety-four than in 1904. There also was a large increase in arrivals at southern ports, while a decrease is shown for the Pacific ports, which is accounted for in some measure by the Russo-Japanese war.

Of the increased arrivals referred to Austria-Hungary sent 95,537 over its quota of 1904; Russia, 39,756; Italy, 28,152, and the United Kingdom, 49,544. This increase from the last mentioned country, says the commissioner, is somewhat offset by the decreases from Germany, Switzerland and Sweden. Notwithstanding the increase from Italy, that country, says the commissioner, may be regarded as having probably reached the high-water mark.

Contract Labor Problem.
The importance of a proper understanding of the contract labor law is dwelt upon in the report.

No feature of the immigration law, he declares, has proved so difficult of enforcement as that which was passed for the protection of labor in this country from unfair competition by aliens and the chief obstacle in the way of such enforcement he attributes to the erroneous impression that it is a measure passed by congress against its will by the power of organized labor, "expecting all it could obtain rather than seeking simple justice." The impression is so widely prevalent, he says, that it produces at least an indifference to the enforcement of the law if not a hostile bias against it and credits the law-making branch of the government with no wiser motive for enacting it than selfish fear. Because of such impression, he declares, the bureau finds its efforts to enforce the law either reluctantly submitted to or resisted, actively or passively, and itself viewed as in some sort a branch or agency of organized labor, sensitive to that body's interest, responsive to its wishes and thus essentially different from other parts of the executive government of the United States.

DEATH ON THE LAKES.

Total of 215 Lives Has Been Lost
During the Past Year.

Washington, Dec. 11.—Death took a heavier toll from the great lakes during the season just closed than in any previous year since the coming of big boats. A total of 215 lives were lost. Of these 116 were drowned off the ships during the three great storms of the fall. In 1904 the number of dead was forty-nine, the smallest loss for a season on record. It was then generally believed by marine men that the big steel steamers, to which the traffic of the lakes was going, were so safe that a serious loss of life was out of the question. In fact, vessel men claimed that lake navigation was freer from loss of life than any other great occupation. All this was upset by the season now closing.

Compared with previous years, the list of dead in 1896 was 62, in 1897 it was 88, in 1898, 117, in 1899, 110, in 1900, 122, in 1901, 140, in 1902, 94, in 1903, 49, in 1904. Last year but two sailors lost their lives in what might be called shipwrecks. This year the number lost in storms was 124.

Lake Erie, which led the list of dead for a number of years, the past season gave place to Lake Superior, where ninety-five sailors perished, as compared with forty for Lake Erie, thirty-eight for Lake Huron, fifteen for Lake Michigan, ten for Lake Ontario, eleven for the Detroit-St. Clair river passage and six for the Soo passage.

Thirty-nine fell overboard and were drowned, and twenty met death by falling into holds. Fifteen were killed by accident by machinery either on shipboard or on docks, and the loss of nine lives was due to collision. Four were killed by explosions and four committed suicide, while four died on shipboard from exposure or natural causes.

Of the millions of passengers carried on lake boats but two were lost. One was a suicide and the other simply disappeared.

WEEK'S FORECAST.

Outline of Work in Congress Includes Measures of Importance.

Washington, Dec. 11.—The emergency appropriation bill for the Panama canal will be the first important measure to engross the attention of the senate this week. There will be no opposition to the passage of the bill in some form, but there is likely to be a debate over the proposal to restore the $5,500,000 cut from the original measure by the house. Senator Gallinger will call up the merchant marine bill, if there is time. No one counts on getting even a report from committees on the railroad rate bill until after the holidays. The joint statehood bill and the bill providing for the reduction of the Philippine tariff will be postponed until after the holidays. Much of the present week will be devoted to the reorganization of committees.

Speaker Cannon will announce the committees of the house to-day, practically completing the work of organization. The committees so appointed will meet during the week, appoint subcommittees and assign to them pending measures. The appropriations committee has probably the heaviest tasks. Leaders are disposed to expedite consideration of the Philippine tariff bill, and hearings will begin as soon as the ways and means committee has organized.

A Plain Statement

Quality of Beer Depends Upon Superiority of Materials, Treatment and Maturity

Purity is a universal essential in all beers. The observance of cleanliness and sterilization will secure it.

Healthfulness, combined with flavor and taste, constitutes real quality, and these are impossible without the very best materials and the highest order of treatment. This is what science and experience teach.

Materials: To provide the public with a really good, palatable and wholesome beer of the Highest Quality, we use the best barley-malt, the highest grade hops, superior yeast, and in our pale beers a small percentage of rice. In all our beers we use the best and purest materials, regardless of cost.

Corn we never use, although it is not excluded by authority, and has the advantage of cheapness. We use no substitute of any kind to reduce our expense. We spare neither money nor care to fortify and increase our well earned and long established reputation.

Treatment and Maturity: We employ only the most modern methods of brewing, and our present storing capacity of 600,000 barrels is more than that of any two other breweries in the world.

These facilities enable us to age our beer the length of time necessary to guarantee its purity and maturity—not in printers' ink—but in fact.

Quality, depending upon the character of materials and the methods employed, is the real goal for competition among brewers.

At this goal we have been for many years.

It is for these reasons that

Budweiser

The King of Bottled Beers

must and does command a higher price than any other beer, and at the same time has a greater sale than all other bottled beers.

HOG CHOLERA NOW APPEARS IN THE TOWN OF PORTER

International Stock Show Attracts Many Farmers to the Windy City.

This week is one of importance to agriculturists because it is the opening of the great International Stock show at Chicago. This is the biggest and the best live-stock show in the world and every one interested in livestock ought to make it a point to visit it. In this day and age if any particular project is to succeed it is necessary in order to obtain the best results to hold conventions, which serve as a common meeting ground for the discussion of many ideas. So, from an industrial standpoint, stock shows serve the same purpose. Here feeders and breeders get the very best chance to study the most profitable types, compare the various breeds, and to observe the excellent qualities of all breeds. More than this, it serves as an excellent place for both the growers and shippers to observe market values—to see for themselves what kind of stock is most profitable for their business.

Have a Cough.
Hogs seem to be afflicted with a cough this fall, and it seems to be a general epidemic throughout the whole country. Coughing is a very common ailment among hogs at all times, but some years seem to be a great deal worse than others. The weather may have a great deal to do with this, being so dry and dusty for such long periods, but a great deal of this trouble is caused by hogs lying in dusty bedding. Too much attention cannot be paid to keeping dry and clean sleeping quarters for the hogs, for a great many diseases result from foul beds. Two remedies taken from an leading agricultural paper are worth passing along. The first one is to raise the pig on his hind feet and as he squeals pour half a cupful of pine tar down his throat, being careful not to choke him. Repeat this dose twice a week in mild cases; but where the coughing is severe it should be given every day. The other remedy was given as a very successful one. This consists in placing the pig in a tight hog-house, shutting all doors and openings. Place a nearly red-hot bar of iron where the pig cannot reach it, and put a lump of camphor gum about the size of a small hickory put on the iron. Compel the pig to breathe in a good quantity of this drug, repeating the treatment every other day. You will be surprised at results.

The Cholera.
Cholera is still playing a great deal of mischief in the northwestern part of the country, more especially in the town of Porter. People are compelled to sell their hogs as soon as they notice signs of the deadly plague, before they are ready for market, or keep them and have a total loss or nearly so by this terrible epidemic. Great moves have been made to cure this disease, but, as a whole, have proven a failure. Even vaccination has been tried, but with no success, for the anti-hog cholera serum is not to be relied on. In the case of hog cholera, "an ounce of prevention is worth a great many pounds of cure."

Because the Canadian Pacific would not reduce rates from Vancouver to Calgary and interior points in British Columbia to the same basis as from Winnipeg, Manitoba, merchants of Vancouver have declared a boycott against the Canadian Pacific. They are shipping their goods east and ordering all goods sent over American lines.

OLIVER W. STEWART IS TO SPEAK HERE

Noted Chicago Temperance Advocate
Is To Be in the City Very Soon.

The program below for a Rock County Prohibition Conference at Janesville, in Good Templars Hall, Main St. nearly opposite the Meyer's hotel, on Thursday Dec. 14th, speaks for itself. The announcement of the coming to this conference of the Hon. Oliver W. Stewart known by all Prohibitionists as an orator and speaker of national reputation who will address the conference at 2 o'clock is sufficient if there were no others, for urging all Prohibitionists and their friends; Good Templars, members of Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and Prohibition Alliances who can possibly arrange to attend this important gathering to do so, but not only are we to have Mr. Stewart; I am authorized by state chairman Clayton to say that he invited National Chairman Chas. R. Jones to be present at this conference, and has received word from Mr. Jones saying, while he could not promise certainly to meet with us, he would bear the meeting in mind and if possible to come. He would do so, Mr. Clayton writes he is quite confident Mr. Jones will come. This is pleasant news as the Rock County Prohibitionists and surrounding counties will be glad to have an opportunity to meet for the first time in Wisconsin our present national chairman. If he comes, by dropping out the last number, the order of program can be rearranged as may be necessary to give Mr. Jones an appropriate place.

December 14th, concludes Mr. Stewart's magnificent two months' campaign in Minnesota and his December series of meetings in Wisconsin, also chairman Clayton's state work for 1905 and I would like to see the hall filled to the doors on this occasion. Members of the W. T. C. U. and Good Templars lodge will help to make the noon hour a most sociable and enjoyable one, a grand basket picnic dinner.

YARNS AND STUNTS AT BANQUET BOARD

Twilight Club Expects Every Man To Do His Duty at the Session
Tomorrow Evening

It is an ancient tradition among the students of the university at Glasgow, Scotland, and possibly elsewhere, that no twice-told tale shall go unchallenged. The challenge takes a very unobtrusive form, but is tremendously effective, nevertheless. The moment the familiar lineaments of an old acquaintance are recognized in the narration by any hearer seated at the festal board, he gives the sign of recognition by gently laying his knife across the top of his glass. The raconteur who can run the gauntlet without having any glasses crossed may rest assured that he has told a story that is absolutely new. When, on the other hand, the majority have been quietly "covered" before he has finished the introductory sentences he still has a chance to haul in his canvas and launch forth on a new tack. Were the Twilight Club to adopt any such method of procedure at the session tomorrow evening it is quite likely that the stealthy knives would be kept busy. Tales that are sere and yellow with age seem to be expected by the program committee. For, after the caption, "Stories," on the printed outline, appears this bit of elegant sentiment: "A very ancient and fish-like smell." After the next subject, "Song," is printed this hopeful quotation: "I often sing and shout, and know there is music in me, for none has yet come out." Rev. R. M. Vaughan, who enjoys the distinction of having, himself, assembled one of the largest private collections of anecdotes possessed in the city, is to act as leader and if the number and character of the responses equal expectations a most delightful evening is assured.
